THE PREFACE.

HAVING at length, by my own unwearied Application, and the kind Aſſiſtance of many Gentlemen and Gardeners, compleated my Collection of the various Kinds and different Sorts of FRUITS produced in this Kingdom; and having, according to my Propoſals, diſpoſed them in monthly Order on twelve Copper-Plates, coloured from the Oil-Paintings, after the real Fruits: Now in order to render this Work ſtill farther uſeful, I take the liberty of preſenting this little Book to my SUBSCRIBERS; hoping they will accept it as a Mark of my Gratitude for their Favours, and of my ſincere Deſire to render the whole Deſign, as uſeful and pleaſant as poſſible.

It contains ſeveral Catalogues of Fruit diſpoſed in ſuch a manner as to ſhew at one View all that a curious Enquirer can be deſirous of knowing.—Would he learn what Kinds and Sorts every Month produces? The firſt Catalogue ſets before him, under the Name of each Month, all that are then in Seaſon, and informs him whether they are Standard, Dwarf, or Eſpalier, by the Letters S. D. E. And likewiſe what Aſpect they require, by the initial Letters of the four Cardinal Points, Eaſt, Weſt, North and South.—Does he want to know how many Sorts there be of any particular Specie, or Kind of Fruit? Let him but turn to the ſecond Catalogue, and there he will find all the different Sorts brought together under the kinds they belong to: As for example, all Sorts of Apples under the word APPLES, all ſorts of Pears under the word PEARS, &c.———Would he be informed what Fruit-Trees ſhould be planted againſt each of his Garden Walls? The third Catalogue of Aſpects will teach him fully.—Or deſires he to ſee at once what Trees are proper for Standards, Dwarfs, or Eſpaliers? The fitteſt for either of theſe Purpoſes are ranged together in a Fourth Catalogue for his Information.—And as there are ſome uncommon Fruits, which are beautiful to the Eye, but unfit for eating, a Liſt of them is alſo added.

By

By these Catalogues Gentlemen will be assisted in furnishing their Gardens and their Tables with the greatest Variety, and the best of Fruits, without being liable to such a Disappointment as usually follows an injudicious or random Choice.

And that the Subscribers to my former Work of Flowers may be furnished with Directions how to chuse the propereſt for every purpose, I have annex'd a Catalogue of FLOWERS, wherein is shewn not only the Season of their blowing, but also whether they are most fit for open Borders, Edgings, Pots, &c. distinguishing as to the Culture of them, those which, growing in Beds, require a Covering from the Summer-Sun and Winter-Frost, as well as those which stand in need of the Green-House or the Stove.

Thus much I imagine needful towards understanding this little Book; and what follows, in relation to myself, will be I hope excused, since it is intended only to satisfy the Curiosity of those who do not know me, and may perhaps for that Reason have the worse Opinion of my Performances.

Gardening is the Employment Providence has allotted me; and it happily falls out to be a Business the most suitable of all others to my Genius and Inclination. I have spent many Years in collecting, cultivating and improving all the different Kinds of Trees, Plants, Fruits, and Flowers, that I could possibly poſſibly obtain; and in doing this, have ſpared neither Coſt nor Pains.

With intent to make the Love of Gardening more general, and the underſtanding of it more eaſy, I have from time to time publiſhed Catalogues, containing large Variety of Trees, Plants, Fruits, and Flowers, both Foreign and Domeſtic, cultivated by me for Sale. Nothing more need here be ſaid of the Monthly Flower-Pieces, which I publiſhed ſome time ago, as they have been ſo generally approved; but it may not be amiſs to give ſome little account of the Fruit-Pieces which this Book accompanies.

In making this Collection, I have been generouſly ſupplied with Choice of the fineſt Fruits, and Increaſe of the ſame, as well as greatly aſſiſted in comparing and naming them, by a great many, both of Gentlemen and Gardeners, who are not only good Judges of the Culture, but exquiſitely nice in diſtinguiſhing the Flavour, and moſt minute Difference of the ſeveral Sorts of Fruits; and no Name has been inſerted at the Bottom of the Plates, or in the following Catalogues, but by their unanimous Opinion and Conſent. —But after all, I don't pretend, that either the Plates or Catalogues contain every individual Species of the Fruits which may be found amongſt us: new Sorts are frequently produced, and will, perhaps, be ſo as long as the World endures; nor can they be increaſed, diſ- diſperſed, and known immediately: I may however venture to affirm, that I have collected a greater Variety than has yet been brought together, and few I hope will be found wanting.—As for the Deſigning, Engraving, and Colouring, I ſhall ſay no more, but that I have taken the utmoſt Care to have them performed in the beſt manner, by the moſt able Hands.

A Fondneſs for the Art I have ſpent my Life in, and a Deſire to do ſome Service to the Publick, have been the chief Motives of all my Undertakings, and I muſt with the utmoſt Satisfaction and Thankfulneſs acknowledge that Heaven has bleſſed my Endeavours.

I ſhall only add my humble Thanks to all, who have aſſiſted me in this Work; particularly to thoſe, who, freely and unask'd, furniſhed me with ſeveral of the Choiceſt Fruits.

I likewiſe acknowledge myſelf obliged to all my SUBSCRIBERS, and hope my preſent Labours will be honoured with their kind Acceptance; and I am, with great Reſpect,

THERE are certain Terms uſed in ſpeaking of Fruits, which perhaps will not be thought improper to be inſerted in a Work of this Kind. We ſay of Fruits, that they are

Of a grateful Taſte or Flavour, of a fragrant or fine Smell.
Aromatic or Spicy, of a warm or ſpicy Taſte or Smell.
Muſky, or of a rich ſpicy perfumed Taſte or Smell.
Vinous, or of a wine-like Taſte or Smell.
Odoriferous, muſked or perfumed.
Sharp or ſour, or of a biting Taſte.

Of the Fleſh or Pulp we ſay, it is Soft, buttery, melting, or ſweet.

Short and crackly.
Gritty, ſticky, or ſtony, hard or harſh near the Core.
Tender or ſoft.
Firm, not hard, but breaks ſhort in the eating.
Tough, neither fine nor delicate.
Doughy, flattiſh or diſagreeable.
Mealy, when dry or over-ripe.

The Flavour, Colour, Time of Ripening, Size and Goodneſs of FRUITS, vary a great deal, according to the Soil and Scituation, and as the Seaſon proves either cold or hot, wet or dry.

FRUITS of a good Kind, planted in a proper Soil, and towards the right Aſpect, will uſually anſwer the Character they bear: But by an ill Soil, too much Shade, or a wrong Expoſure, they will loſe their fine Taſte and Colour, and be good for little.

It has been obſerved that ſuch FRUITS, as grow on Dwarfs or Eſpaliers, are better taſted, and will keep longer than thoſe againſt Walls; but are not ſo large and beautiful.

All FRUITS ſhould be gathered prudently, and eat ſeaſonably.

THE FLORIST is desired to take notice, that the Beds need not be covered in Winter, 'till the Flowers appear above Ground: but then Covers are proper for the Flowers hereafter mention'd, to defend them from the sudden nipping Frosts.

Anemonies, Ranunculus's, Hyacinths, &c. require a Covering from the wet when first planted.

Carnations and Auricula's in Pots may be the better preserved in Winter by keeping them dry, and under some Shelter, in great Rains, Snows, or Frosts.

N.B. The Flowers in this Collection are the fittest for each purpose; but there are many more, of every Kind, propagated for Sale, by myself and others.
